Notice to New Zealand residents

This offer to New Zealand investors is a regulated offer made under Australian and New Zealand law. In Australia, this is Chapter 8 of the Corporations Act 2001 and Regulations. In New Zealand, this is Part 5 of the Securities Act 1978 and the Securities (Mutual Recognition of Securities Offerings – Australia) Regulations 2008.

This offer and the content of the offer document are principally governed by Australian rather than New Zealand law. In the main, the Corporations Act 2001 and Regulations (Australia) set out how the offer must be made.

There are differences in how securities are regulated under Australian law. For example, the disclosure of fees for collective investment schemes is different under the Australian regime.

The rights, remedies, and compensation arrangements available to New Zealand investors in Australian securities may differ from the rights, remedies, and compensation arrangements for New Zealand securities.

Both the Australian and New Zealand securities regulators have enforcement responsibilities in relation to this offer. If you need to make a complaint about this offer, please contact the Financial Markets Authority, Wellington, New Zealand. The Australian and New Zealand regulators will work together to settle your complaint.

The taxation treatment of Australian securities is not the same as for New Zealand securities.

If you are uncertain about whether this investment is appropriate for you, you should seek the advice of an appropriately qualified financial adviser.

The offer may involve a currency exchange risk. The currency for the securities is not New Zealand dollars. The value of the securities will go up or down according to changes in the exchange rate between that currency and New Zealand dollars. These changes may be significant.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

If you expect the securities to pay any amounts in a currency that is not New Zealand dollars, you may incur significant fees in having the funds credited to a bank account in New Zealand in New Zealand dollars.

If the securities are able to be traded on a securities market and you wish to trade the securities through that market, you will have to make arrangements for a participant in that market to sell the securities on your behalf. If the securities market does not operate in New Zealand, the way in which the market operates, the regulation of participants in that market, and the information available to you about the securities and trading may differ from securities markets that operate in New Zealand.

Applications

Applications according to this Prospectus may only be made during the applicable Offer Period, and on an Application Form attached to, or accompanying this Prospectus (including an electronic copy).

CHAIRMAN'S LETTER

19 March 2015

Dear Investor,

It is with pleasure that we present this Prospectus to you, as an existing Goldminex Resource Limited (Goldminex) shareholder or a potential new shareholder.

The acquisition of the Enzumo Group (Enzumo), which was approved by shareholders at the general meeting held today, will transform Goldminex into a growing technology company with attractive financial metrics and the aim to develop a leading Australian financial technology and eLearning company. We are seeking to raise $5.25 million of new capital, including a 1 for 1 entitlement for Goldminex shareholders.

Following a successful capital raising, Goldminex will be renamed Enzumo Limited, which will have the following characteristics:

- A growing financial technology company
- Growing blue chip client base in the financial planning and advisory industry
- Attractive financial metrics and EBITDA growth over the last 2 years²
- New contract wins in FY15
- Strong balance sheet with high cash reserves
- Strong product and technology development pipeline
- Experienced, entrepreneurial management team and board
- Enzumo founders to hold circa 27% of the ordinary shares
- Funds managed by Kestrel Capital (a related entity to Niall Cairns and Phillip Carter) intend to become new cornerstone shareholders and invest over $1 million and existing shareholders associated with Niall Cairns and Phillip Carter intend to take up their full entitlement under the Entitlement Offer (such funds and existing shareholders to hold circa 15% of the ordinary shares).

We believe that the acquisition of Enzumo provides Goldminex shareholders and incoming shareholders with an exceptional opportunity to participate in an Australian financial technology growth company that compares favourably to other listed companies and has the potential to deliver strong shareholder returns.

This Prospectus contains information about the Company, Enzumo and the Offers. It also contains information about the potential risks of investing in the Company. I encourage you to read this Prospectus carefully and consult with your professional advisers.

We look forward to your support of the Prospectus issue and delivering a transformed and growing company over the next few months. The focus then will move to working with you over the next few years to deliver on the plan and the resulting value creation that its achievement should create.

Yours faithfully

Niall Cairns
Non-Executive Chairman

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

2.1 MARKET OVERVIEW

A ground swell of change is taking place in the Australian financial advice industry, driven by Future of Financial Advice (FOFA) legislation reforms that are changing the revenue model of financial planning businesses to a “fee-for-service” basis and increasing planner compliance overhead. Given the cost associated with FOFA, financial planners have been encouraged to gain efficiencies through scale and a lower operating cost. This has been sought through industry consolidation, software and by changing the type of advice provided. The need to service larger numbers of clients more efficiently has resulted in “scaled advice”, a service where clients do not require a holistic, and higher cost, service.

The potential for growth, in this regard, is to target the 70% of Australians who do not currently seek wealth management advice³. The key to penetrating that market is efficiency and cost effectiveness. Client demand for advice in this target market is highly price elastic and the price/cost of advice is already prohibitive making penetration difficult. Those planners who implement strategies to drive down their cost base, enabling them to reduce the cost of delivering advice will be more likely to achieve success in this growing and emerging market, referred to as the scaled advice market.

Embracing financial technology is considered a key strategy to enable financial planning businesses to take advantage of this market opportunity. Implementing financial technology productivity solutions drives efficient operational process, reduces the administrative and compliance burden, and enables business and turnover to increase more efficiently. Industry recognition of this has driven the recent growth of financial planning software.⁴

2.2 AUSTRALIAN WEALTH MANAGEMENT INDUSTRY

Australia has one of the largest and fastest growing funds management sectors in the world, with total funds under management (FUM) currently estimated to be $2.4 trillion (September 2014), having grown at a compound annual growth rate of 11.9% since 1994⁵. Of total FUM, superannuation funds are a significant proportion; representing $1.8 trillion (growing at 12.4% pa over the same period)⁶. This growth is notable given only 3.6% of FUM originates from overseas investors⁵.

Growth in the sector is underpinned by the Commonwealth Government of Australia’s mandated retirement scheme (superannuation), under which contribution rates (which are currently 9.5%) will increase progressively from 2021 to 2025 to 12%. Superannuation savings are anticipated to be over $6 trillion by 2035, as forecast by Treasury Retirement and Income Modelling Group 2008⁷.

Further strengthening this sector is the sophistication of Australia’s investor base, as well as a strong and resilient economy, which has been underpinned by:

- mature and innovative financial markets;
- an efficient world class regulatory environment;
- participation by leading global financial institutions; and
- the development of innovative investment products.

2.3 KEY PLAYERS AND TRENDS

In line with the growth of the superannuation industry, fees generated have increased, supporting planners. Rice Warner estimated, for the year ended 30 June 2013, fees generated to be $16.9 billion based on superannuation assets of $1.6 trillion.⁸

There are two key groups providing financial advice to Australians:

1. Wealth management institutions; and
2. Independent Financial Advisers (IFA) and dealer groups.

In November 2009 the Ripoll Report, of the Parliamentary Joint Committee on Corporations and Financial Services, identified that in Australia there are just over 18,000 financial advisers working for 749 advisory groups operating across over 8,000 practices.⁹

The Ripoll Report further found that the most common method for providing financial advice is via one of the 160 dealer groups, of which the largest 20 dealer groups hold around 50% of the market share.⁹

Approximately 85% of financial advisors are associated with product manufacturers and either:

- work within a dealer group and use the dealer's support services; or
- are directly employed as authorised representatives under a corporate entity's Australian Financial Services Licence (AFSL).⁹

These 18,000 financial advisers, according to ASIC, provide advice to around only 34% of retail investors who hold shares directly and just over half of managed funds.⁹

9. "Inquiry into financial products and services in Australia", Parliamentary Joint Committee on Corporations and Financial Services report, Ripoll B (Chairman), November 2009, p30

2 INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

As previously discussed, the Company considers these groups are segmented as follows¹⁰:

Client Segment	Characteristics	Size in Licences	Authorised Reps
Wealth Institutions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> — Typically bank owned — Operate an employed planner network — Own and operate licensees (Dealers) made up of large numbers of self-employed planners (Practices). 	Employed – 300 to 1,000 planners Self Employed – 100 + practices	11,000
Mid-Sized Licensees (Dealer Groups)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> — Typically independent licensees — Often more like a co-operative of likeminded planners 	50 to 300 Practices	5,000
Individual Practices	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> — Fiercely independent, fragmented — Believe their way of advice delivery is unique and value adding to clients 	4+ employees	2,000

2.4 WEALTH MANAGEMENT INSTITUTIONS

Approximately 85% of planners are associated with a product manufacturer, consisting of the major banks and financial institutions, which distribute a wide range of investment and insurance products, including superannuation via a multitude of channels¹¹. These financial planning groups are facing challenges including potential litigation, increased regulatory requirements and disenchantment among clients and planners alike. FOFA reforms, involving restrictions and changes to the planner's revenue model, including the banning of conflicted remuneration (commissions), have precipitated an aggregation of planner groups in recent years.

The planner groups understand the changes that are sweeping the industry and the need for technology to create opportunities in the new environment, which requires the provision of timely and cost-effective advice to the emerging mass market.

2.5 IFAs AND DEALER GROUPS

Small independent IFAs typically receive their revenue from a minority of their clients, resulting in most IFA clients being either under-serviced or not serviced at all. With the FOFA reforms moving the revenue model to a "fee-for-service" basis IFAs will need to significantly increase client numbers and better service their current clients in order to maintain their current revenue levels. This highlights the need for IFAs to provide a less expensive and more efficient service model to attract and maintain clients.

2.6 OTHER PARTICIPANTS / EMERGING PARTICIPANTS

Other potential market participants, including insurance brokers, mortgage brokers, accountants, stockbrokers and solicitors, are increasingly providing limited generic financial advice to clients. While the barriers to entry in the industry relate mainly to holding and complying with licensing requirements, which have increased since FOFA, and achieving sufficient scale to be competitive, growth of these participants is expected, as financial advice is complementary to the core services already provided.

2.7 PLANNER PENETRATION

Given the Australian funds management sector is one of the largest and fastest growing globally, it indicates that financial planners have a strong opportunity to capture business for providing advice, and this opportunity appears greater when considering funds placed from advice extend to the international funds management sector, direct investment in shares, exchange-traded funds, direct property and debt and quasi-debt securities (including hybrids and debentures).

While it is difficult to pinpoint the percentage of Australians who use financial planners for making investment decisions, there are various surveys that indicate that there is potential to increase planner market penetration given the 2008 ANZ Financial literacy survey indicated approximately 70% of Australian investors appear not to use a financial planner¹².

The following surveys taken from the ASIC Financial Literacy and Behavioural Change Report, March 2011 further highlight this position.

A considerable proportion of investors, even relatively "active" or "affluent" investors, do not use a financial planner:

- At best, research found 62% of "active" investors would use a planner if they were looking for information about managed investments, including superannuation.
- At worst, research found that only 15% of "general" investors surveyed used a financial planner as a main source of information when they made their last investment decision.¹³

However, while the potential for planners to increase their penetration into this market appears large, there are challenges, particularly given the elasticity of price demand. Qualitative research with low to middle income participants commissioned by Australian Department of Families, Housing, Community Services and Indigenous Affairs in 2009 found that, while many participants were generally aware of the services they could receive through accountants and financial planners, few had accessed those services as participants tended to perceive the services as expensive and unaffordable.¹⁴

2 INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

Investment Trends raised the issue of the cost of advice in a 2009 survey of pre-retirees and retirees. Almost half (47%) of those respondents who would seek advice on retirement plans did not expect to pay for advice. More directly, 26% of those who would have preferred to consult a financial planner did not expect to pay for this advice.¹⁴

Overall, the most common reasons for not using a planner are:

- a perception that professional advice is not necessary (e.g. because the decision is simple or people prefer to do it themselves);
- lack of trust in planners, including not knowing how to find a “good” one; and
- cost issues, including concerns about:
 - planner fees; and
 - not having enough money to invest.¹⁴

Industry research highlights how a reduction in service cost that software could deliver is a key for financial planners to gain market penetration.¹⁵

2.8 FOFA REFORMS

Concerns of investors over receiving bad advice are often mismanaged by avoiding formal advice altogether. The FOFA reforms are aimed at improving the trust and confidence of Australian retail investors in the financial planning sector.

Conflicts of interest have historically compromised the quality of financial advice provided to Australian investors and several changes have been implemented to address these conflicts including the introduction of “fee-for-service”, the banning of product commissions, and the requirement for periodic “opt-in”.

These changes are expected to increase pressure on financial planners to reduce fees, coupled with the need to find more clients, better service their existing clients and improve the planners’ productive efficiency.

2.9 PLANNER SOFTWARE

The financial planner software market is dominated by two players: XPLAN and COIN.

The Investment Trends 2014 Planner Technology Report shows that XPLAN held 54% of survey participant planner relationships jumping from 39% in two years, transforming the planning software market over the past decade.¹⁶ According to Enzumo’s research XPLAN also holds 65% of the IFA/self-employed planners market. XPLAN’s increasing market dominance has been aided by NAB commencing the roll-out of XPLAN to over 4,000 of its users in bank branches and self-employed networks in September 2012¹⁷. The Investment Trends Report also highlights the trend of an increasing concentration amongst the top four advice providers that now hold 90% of all such relationships, where in 2007 they only held less than half of the primary relationships.¹⁶

2.10 LEARNING MANAGEMENT SYSTEM (LMS) SOFTWARE

The financial services industry has commenced addressing the provision of cost-effective advice to the mass market, however, this has been carried out in a piecemeal manner given the reliance on software technology that is often too complex for planners to fully utilise. This is highlighted by the fact that while XPLAN is by far the largest software provider it is considered overly complex, resulting in the vast majority of practices using, on average, only a small proportion of software functionality. Compounding the issue of complexity is the lack of effective training and change management support, highlighting the need for a Financial Adviser LMS. While competency in software becomes increasingly prominent in efficient workplace management, a LMS is required to manage the necessary up-skilling and support of planner staff.

The global corporate training industry as a whole grew 15% in 2013 while in Asia growth is twice that of the US, as noted in the Bersin Corporate Learning Factbook 2014¹⁸. While specifically within the financial planning industry the scale and growth of the LMS market is itself significant with global market spend predicted to be between $2.5 billion and $2.7 billion in 2014, growing 21% YoY and 13% in 2013.¹⁹

This growth in the LMS market is a result of:

- companies struggling to reskill staff at all levels to deal with accelerating changes in technology;
- radically changing learning content resulting in companies wanting modern platforms to be easier to use, offer mobile learning, and be tightly integrated with talent and collaboration systems;
- learning platforms being in a replacement cycle with an average age of between 4-7 years, with 61% of companies planning a replacement within the next 18 months; and
- the rapid emergence of new LMS providers.¹⁸

2.11 CHALLENGES FOR FINANCIAL PLANNERS

The financial planning industry is in the midst of significant structural change driven by the FOFA regulatory change.

The FOFA reforms are imposing considerable compliance and regulatory requirements upon financial planners. This in turn is increasing the workload for back office operations of financial planning practices. The increased workload drives up costs and reduces profit, as existing on-going advice fees remain the same.

The response from the licensees and owners of financial planning practices has been to focus on how to increase back office operational efficiency. This has led to more deployment of capital into business operations with better use of financial planning software being the main focus.

2 INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

Q74 Which planning software do you use the most in your business? (Proportions rebased to exclude those who do not use planning software)

There are two main financial planning software options available, XPLAN (from IRESS Wealth Management Pty Ltd) and COIN (from Rubik Financial Limited). It appears that XPLAN is increasingly dominating the market, because the Investment Trends Planner Technology Report 2014 found (based on over 1,000 financial planner survey respondents) that XPLAN is used by 54% of financial planners who use planning software, increasing from 22% in 2007. According to the report, COIN holds significantly less than XPLAN with 23%. While COIN's share is up from 2007, when it held 14%, recently it is beginning to lose market share.

These software technology solutions are designed to provide the functionality and features to meet all aspects of a financial planning practice's operational needs, including:

- Customer relationship management (CRM);
- Customised workflow to automate business processes;
- Financial modelling, for example, cash flow, superannuation, insurance needs, tax and investment modelling;
- Superannuation and investment portfolio reporting;
- Financial plan creation and implementation; and
- Management and auditing of regulatory and compliance requirements.

The functionality and feature set is broad and deep resulting in significant complexity when it comes to a financial planning practice customising, implementing, learning and training, and using the software. However, when set up properly the software can facilitate effective business processes and deliver many practice efficiencies.

Businesses are finding it difficult to gain the required business process efficiency improvements because of the complexity and specific expertise required. It is also difficult and expensive to find the right dedicated in-house software expertise. In addition, a business needs to provide an effective support and training solution to underpin effective user adoption. Compounding the complexity impact is the lack of effective training and change management support provided by the product vendors. This further reduces the ability of a practice to expand the use of the technology.

In Enzumo's experience, this has resulted in the vast majority of planning practices using only a small proportion of the software's functionality. As a result many businesses are finding it challenging to gain the benefits the software can deliver and a return on their investment in software licenses.

A further challenge faces financial planners, to provide advice to clients who are at the beginning of their financial journey or only request specific advice on one part of their financial plan. Offering financial advice in the traditional way in many cases is cost prohibitive leaving the client gaining no professional advice and the financial planner without a new client.

The solution to this challenge lies in the ability to produce and deliver advice in a cost effective way or in a scaled way. The challenge for financial planners is to be able to produce scaled advice quickly and simply. Effective use of their technology is the solution, however, implementation is the challenge.

Enzumo's solutions to these challenges are explained in Sections 3.4 to 3.10.

COMPANY OVERVIEW

3.1 ABOUT GOLDMINEX

Goldminex Resources Limited is an Australian public company that has been listed on the ASX (ASX code: GMX) since 19 October 2007.

The Company has previously conducted the business of mineral exploration in Papua New Guinea. During the course of the financial year ended 30 June 2014 the Company wound down operations on its main prospect, the Liamu Prospect, which had been developed under a farm-in agreement with Vale International Holdings GmbH (Vale), under which Vale spent USD 16.6m to identify a viable porphyry copper-gold deposit.

Following the withdrawal of Vale from the farm-in agreement and the ending of exploration at the Liamu Prospect, the Company has rationalised its activities, and sought new exploration partners and purchasers for its remaining portfolio of prospective PNG tenements. It remains the Company's intention to seek to sell its PNG subsidiaries.

In November 2014 the Company announced its new strategic direction and the agreement to acquire Enzumo.

Enzumo's proprietary workflows enable financial planners to efficiently create personalised statements of advice (SOA) for individual investors from these complex information flows, whilst ensuring their advice building processes comply with regulatory and supervisory requirements.

Enzumo's LMS provides wealth management firms with a means of supporting Enzumo's proprietary workflows, as well as providing financial planners with necessary training in relation to these software configuration and workflow systems and the underlying financial planning software platforms.

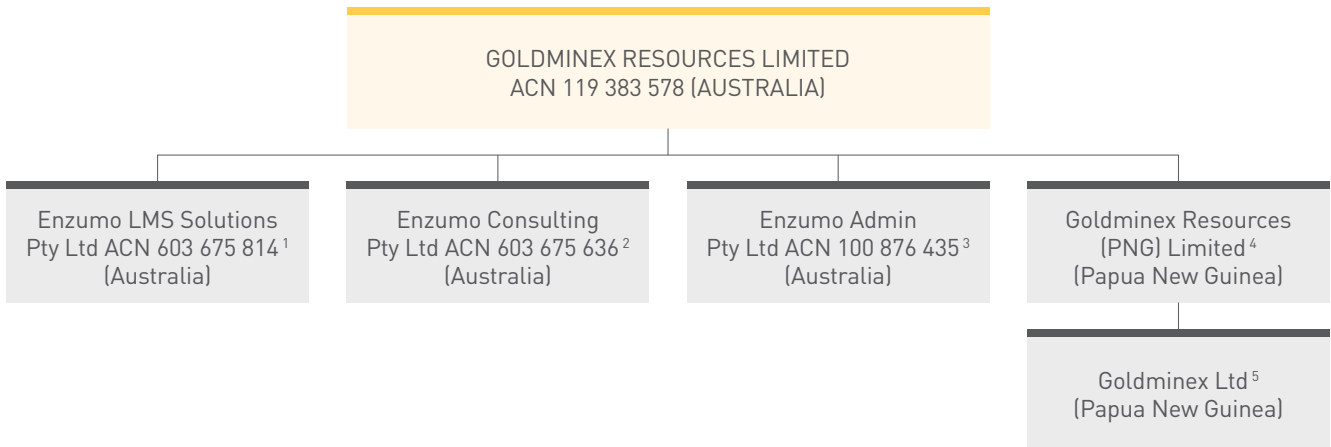

Enzumo's products and services have been developed to meet the needs of financial planners across the full spectrum of the financial planning industry, from wealth management institutions, dealer groups and smaller independent financial planners.

3.4 ENZUMO'S SOLUTIONS

Enzumo provides software, training, and business advisory services to the financial planning industry for the effective use of financial planning software that delivers cost savings, productivity improvements, and business efficiencies.

Enzumo's solutions increase the operational efficiency of a financial planning practice's back office functions by improving the efficiency of producing financial advice. This increases the return on investment on the software used and enables the financial planning practice to increase profit margins and/or reduce the cost of providing advice to its clients. Enzumo's customers are therefore better able to compete in the largest untapped market segment, the scaled advice segment.

To best capture these efficiencies and return on investment for its clients, Enzumo has created a full service proprietary 'Process Mastery Methodology', an end-to-end business analysis and optimisation process. This is applied through: consulting to define how to optimise advice generation and workflows in a specific practice; integration of customised tailored advice software tools, workflows, templates, and resources; and training staff by using its unique Learning Management System (eLMS) to achieve mastery of the processes and tools.

The software solutions business

Enzumo provides key product solutions and services for financial planning software include:

- configuration and development services for client implementations;

- proprietary software modules platforms – these range from software tools (which aggregate and process data and populate complex documents) used to support, build and review SOAs to sophisticated workflow tools for managing external data feeds, as well as customer / planner / supervisor interactions and compliance reporting;
- managed services whereby Enzumo hosts an XPLAN implementation with Enzumo's proprietary tools on a subscription basis; and
- Enzumo Site Administration Service (eSAS) – where a client outsources to Enzumo the administration of a client-hosted XPLAN site.

The LMS solutions business

The Enzumo products are supported by the eLMS, which is provided to clients (wealth management institutions, dealer groups and independent financial planners) as a Software as a Service (SaaS), to ensure clients maximise the return on their technology spend.

Key features of the eLMS include:

- over 90 training simulations covering all of the basics, step-by-step instructional manuals, and recorded webinars;
- capability of being 'white labelled', ready to accept customer branding; and
- an employee assessment capability, tracking qualifications and Continuing Professional Development obligations for compliance.

The functionality of the eLMS is transferable to other segments of the financial services and professional services markets.

3 COMPANY OVERVIEW

3.5 THE SOFTWARE SOLUTIONS BUSINESS

a. Comprehensive Statement of Advice (SoA) tools

Enzumo provides a core Statement of Advice template and software tool for use within the XPLAN system. By incorporating XPLAN's core advice modules such as Xtools, Xtools+, SuperSolver, Risk Researcher and Portfolios, planners are able to generate comprehensive advice more efficiently reducing the cost of advice delivery.

Enzumo uses their Comprehensive Statement of Advice tool in two main ways, as follows:

- i. Enzumo consults to IFAs and large institutional wealth providers to deliver customised versions of the Enzumo SoA configuration in the client's XPLAN site, ensuring solutions meet the needs and compliance requirements of the client; and
- ii. Enzumo offers a managed service solution offering access to the Enzumo SoA template and software tool configuration via an Enzumo XPLAN site.

b. Scaled Advice Statement of Advice (SoA) tools

To assist financial planners with the demand for scaled advice, Enzumo provides a range of Scaled Advice Statement of Advice tools. These tools use specific XPLAN modules to allow planners to generate scaled advice more efficiently, further reducing the cost of advice delivery.

As with the comprehensive SoA tool, the Scaled Advice SoA's are configured to meet the specific needs of each client. It also allows planners to offer advice to a larger market, offering the opportunity for planners to scale the practice operations and increase revenues.

c. Client review tools

With the introduction of FoFA and the move to Fee for Service, the requirement for planners to provide on-going service to their clients is now paramount to their business model. Enzumo provides an efficient Client Review template to assist planners generate comprehensive or investment only reviews for their clients.

d. Tailored templates and workflow tools

Enzumo provides a range of tailored software tools, workflows, templates, and resources that improve the practices' back office function, helping them run more efficiently. These workflows are added to a practice's financial planning software and are designed to save practices time and money by automating many of their 'everyday' administration tasks. The use of Enzumo's workflows enable planners to spend more of their time on client-facing, revenue-generating activity.

More than 70 tried and tested workflows are available that customise practices operation, which incorporate:

- automatic generation of all letter, email, and business templates;
- full integration of barcoding features for document management, process automation, and compliance;
- integrated and automatic compliance system (not using Case Management); and
- integrated reporting.

e. Proprietary workflow tools / solutions

Wealth management institutions and dealer groups tend to have highly customised configurations. For IFAs Enzumo provides proprietary 'turnkey' solutions for preparing financial advice, which may also include practice and customer management solutions.

Enzumo 'furnishes' the leading platforms by capturing a planning practice's business rules and combining them with its own proprietary workflows to build a complete environment for creating, and auditing, a personalised SoA for an investor.

f. Managed services

Enzumo provides managed services whereby Enzumo hosts an XPLAN implementation with Enzumo's proprietary tools on a subscription basis.

g. Enzumo Site Administration Service (eSAS)

The Enzumo Site Administration Service offers full or partial outsource of the XPLAN site administration function and general XPLAN support. eSAS is a cost-effective model when compared to clients performing the work in-house, and ensures clients are effectively:

- utilising all areas of XPLAN relevant to their business;
- supporting users and maintaining their XPLAN site, for example group settings, document library, field administration; and
- improving compliance and management reporting.

3.6 THE LMS SOLUTIONS BUSINESS

Formal training and self-learning is offered through a combination of step-by-step simulations, webinars, and workflow specific instructions to guide the user through each activity.

As financial planning practices tend to be geographically dispersed, this coupled with the highly dynamic investment product environment, and the complexity of software solutions, creates a challenging ecosystem to train and support. In contrast to traditional financial planning solutions Enzumo has overcome these challenges by developing a LMS for software systems, products and professional development support and training, which is delivered online as SaaS.

The eLMS provides metered access to instructional manuals, training simulations and webinars for financial planners and their management. Its solution has been designed to be general, but is highly configurable to cater for the specific needs of financial planners. As such it houses training/support content as well as capturing compliance data, planner qualifications and tracks planner continuing professional education credits.

The eLMS provides support and training for workflow implementations and training on core underlying systems. It also records training and is used for Continuing Professional Development (CPD) at the planner level.

The functionality of the eLMS makes it transferable to other segments of the financial services and professional services markets and in geographically spread businesses, which have similar needs for regulatory compliance, such as funds management, banking, legal and accountancy.

3 COMPANY OVERVIEW

3.7 DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Enzumo's long-term involvement in the financial planning industry has enabled it to develop a deep understanding of what financial planning practices depend on from their software platforms to effectively provide advice. Using this knowledge Enzumo has identified a series of new tools and solutions that are complementary to Enzumo's current product range and clients' existing third party financial planning software. This product development pipeline is expected to deliver a number of new tools, solutions, and modules, progressively over the next eighteen months.

These tools are referred to as a "Dealer Support System". The functionality includes compliance management, CPD and training delivery, and dealer support management modules.

The modules functionality will include:

1. Compliance Management: Provides single-point control of all planner compliance activities. It will assist AFSL holders to assign responsibilities, manage policies and procedures, oversee training and accreditation, monitor and audit planner activity and handle complaints.
2. CPD and Training Delivery: Use the Enzumo eLMS to deliver new training content to planners and support staff to ensure they meet their CPD requirements.
3. Dealer Support: Provides a range of efficient workflow solutions to enable dealer groups to provide support and services to their planners in a cost efficient manner. The module will enable users to establish balanced scorecards at any level (dealer group, practice, planner, staff) and monitor progress towards performance targets.

Further complementary modules are planned, assisting in the management of dealer group business models.

3.8 COMPETITION

Enzumo is positioned as the provider of Australia's most extensive range of XPLAN customisation products and services, with a dedicated staff whose skill base has been built from long working experience within financial planning practices complemented with broader IT skills. These skills and experience, which give Enzumo a distinct competitive advantage, allow Enzumo to be positioned as translators of the software capability to that of the financial planning practice needs.

There are other businesses offering XPLAN customisation services. The competitive environment predominantly consists of small contractors offering one-off consulting and customisation services. These competitors develop a different solution for each client and in that sense are pure consulting businesses. Enzumo is not aware of another company offering the full range of solutions that Enzumo currently provides to the financial services industry.

It is possible to categorise broader competitors offering products and services within the same sector as follows:

1. Core software developers

The key software development firms who build the core programs also provide IT consulting services to complement their products. This includes help desk and training services.

2. Non-core developers

Developers with limited or no actual financial planning experience, without mature products attempting to emulate Enzumo, focusing activities on one-off configuration and support and training services. Training services are not delivered via an online LMS solution, offering no opportunity for scale.

3. IT advisory

IT consulting firms providing outsourced IT services and system development.

4. In-house IT departments

The in-house IT departments within medium to large Australian Financial Service Licence (AFSL) holders providing configuration and support to their licensed advisers.

3.9 BUSINESS MODEL

Enzumo's business model is to provide products and services to financial planners that are 'customer relationship multipliers'; delivering practices enhanced customer experiences and a better bottom line. This business can be summarised as follows:

1. Wealth Management Software: offered as advisory services and software modules; and
2. Site Administration and Learning Management, offered as SaaS.

Enzumo collects fees for consulting and advisory services, software licences, support and maintenance, and subscription to eLMS content.

Enzumo offers products and services for a range of wealth management software products. Given XPLAN's increasing dominance as the preferred industry software in Australia, Enzumo's business model has followed clients' demand for XPLAN optimisation and customisation.

Enzumo's business model is to enable its clients to improve productivity by optimising and mastering their use of technology. Enzumo achieves this by using the proprietary methodology developed by Enzumo as follows:

1. Resolve: A structured process captures system 'problems and possibilities' to create a 'Map to Mastery' defining how to evolve and optimise advice generation and workflows for the practice.
2. Evolve: Implement and integrate customisation with tailored advice software tools, workflows, templates, and resources specified in the 'Map to Mastery'.
3. Involve: Staff are trained using Enzumo's unique eLMS to achieve mastery of the processes and tools. Formal training and self-learning is offered through a combination of step-by-step simulations, webinars, and workflow specific instructions to guide the user through each activity.

Enzumo has found that its clients, by following its 'mastery methodology' and implementing Enzumo's solutions, have achieved significant gains in operating efficiency and productivity. Productivity gains, shown through customer surveys, include a halving in the time to prepare a SOA measured by a 54% improvement in customer response time and over 50% decrease in handling time.

3 COMPANY OVERVIEW

The increase in Enzumo’s clients performance is understandable given financial planners’ highest demand for XPLAN’s improvement is to make it easier to use, as detailed by the Investment Trends Planner Technology Report 2014. At 28% this is the highest demanded improvement, double the next improvement sought.

Marketing and distribution

Enzumo markets and distributes its solutions through the founders’ strong industry networks and contacts, referrals from existing clients and Enzumo’s online presence (at www.enzumo.com), social media and monthly blog. The Acquisition will provide access to capital to expand, and add additional experience to, the business development team. Enzumo’s market presence will be increased through the implementation of a broader marketing plan to increase brand awareness, introduce the market to Enzumo’s LMS capability and drive new prospects, in the mid tier dealer and IFA market segments.

3.10 INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Proprietary software and copyright

At the core of Enzumo’s solution is an advanced business process model for financial planning practices. This proprietary process model is based on configurable business rules that produce a range of workflow designs, tools, solutions and templates. This enables Enzumo’s clients to customise the configuration of their systems, for example the generation of a personalised statement of advice, client review reporting and the use of smart functionality like barcoding which automates workflows and drives efficiency.

The process model also delivers compliance benefits by facilitating process auditing and simplifying compliance reporting.

Enzumo’s LMS solution incorporates valuable proprietary training content, which covers both Enzumo workflows and the client’s financial planning software platforms. The Enzumo LMS is a fully functional LMS allowing clients to utilise the platform to store and deliver any and all of their training, for example, new employee induction.

Enzumo protects its intellectual property through contractual arrangements with its clients, employees and contractors.

On completion of the Acquisition, the Company will have registered trade marks for the Enzumo name in Australia, New Zealand and Europe.

There are no registered or pending patents or designs.

Licensed software

Enzumo licenses the XPLAN system from IRESS. Enzumo also licenses various standard software applications from third parties.

4.16 OVERSEAS INVESTORS

No action has been taken to register or qualify this Prospectus or otherwise to permit a public offering of the New Shares in any jurisdiction outside of Australia and New Zealand.

This Prospectus does not constitute an offer or invitation in any place in which, or to any person to whom, it would not be lawful to make such an offer or invitation. The distribution of this Prospectus in jurisdictions outside Australia may be restricted by law. Persons who come into possession of this Prospectus who are not in Australia or New Zealand should seek advice on and observe any such restrictions. Any failure to comply with such restrictions may constitute a violation of applicable securities law.

It is not practicable for the Company to comply with the securities laws of overseas jurisdictions having regard to the number of overseas Shareholders, the number and value of New Shares these Shareholders would be offered and the cost of complying with regulatory requirements in each relevant jurisdiction. Accordingly, the Offers are not being extended and New Shares will not be issued to Shareholders with a registered address which is outside Australia or New Zealand.

4 DETAILS OF THE OFFERS

It is your responsibility to ensure compliance with all laws of any country relevant to your Application. The return of a duly completed Application Form with the requisite Application Monies, or (in respect of the Entitlement Offer) making a payment of Application Monies by BPAY, will be taken by the Company to constitute a representation and warranty made by you to the Company that there has been no breach of such laws and that all necessary consents and approvals have been obtained.

5.1 INTRODUCTION

Any potential investor should be aware that subscribing for New Shares involves various risks. Participating in the Offers should be considered speculative. The New Shares to be issued under this Prospectus carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or future share price of the Company.

Shareholders should be aware that if the Acquisition is completed, the Company will be changing the nature and scale of its activities and will be subject to additional or increased risks arising from the Enzumo Companies, parties contracted or associated with the Enzumo Companies and the Acquisition Agreement and other agreements, including, but not limited to, those summarised in this Prospectus. The risks and uncertainties described below are not intended to be exhaustive. There may be additional risks and uncertainties that the Company is unaware of or that the Company currently considers to be immaterial, which may affect the Company, the Enzumo Companies and their related entities.

5.2 RISK FACTORS

Based on the information available, a non-exhaustive list of risk factors for the Company is as follows.

a. Company and industry specific

Summary

There are a number of specific risks involved for the Company, and consequently its Shareholders, in the acquisition of the Enzumo Companies, including risks specific to the business and assets of the Enzumo Companies, which include the following non-exhaustive list:

- i. the Company's ability to operate in the future will depend in part on whether it is able to effectively deliver its current products and services to new and existing customers, commercialise new technology solutions and develop new markets and customers. This will depend on successful completion of product development activities and on there being commercial demand for such products which cannot be guaranteed;
- ii. the Directors make no forecast of whether the Company will ever be profitable;
- iii. intellectual property risks as summarised below;
- iv. technology and business development risks as summarised below;
- v. additional capital may be required in order to undertake further development activities for the Enzumo business and there is no guarantee that the Company will be able to fund ongoing development; and
- vi. other industry risks summarised below which also apply specifically to the Enzumo business.

Software development risks

Enzumo's solutions contain significant amounts of computer software, which, despite its stringent internal quality control processes, may inadvertently contain defects that may result in unavailability or failure of the software solutions. Such defects may adversely affect Enzumo's ability to generate new business and cause it to suffer financial loss, as well as potentially giving rise to claims against the Company. Please also refer to Insurance risks below.

5 RISK FACTORS

Reliance on third party IT service providers

Enzumo utilises equipment, software and services provided by third parties to deliver its financial services solutions. Significant or extended disruption of Enzumo's host platform caused by supplied equipment, software or service failure may reduce Enzumo's ability to generate revenue, impact consumer service levels and damage the Enzumo brand. This could adversely affect Enzumo's ability to generate new business and cause it to suffer financial loss. Any mitigation of this loss via redress from third party suppliers may not be immediately available, if at all.

Enzumo's software solutions business (refer Section 3.5) is reliant on the continued availability of the XPLAN system licensed by IRESS to financial planning industry participants generally and directly to Enzumo clients. Enzumo's software solutions business, in particular its ability to generate ongoing revenue, would be adversely affected if IRESS (for example, following its acquisition by a competitor) were to withdraw the XPLAN system or change it in a way that impacted Enzumo's ability to optimise and customise the system for its clients. The licence agreement between Enzumo Admin and IRESS is terminable by either party on 3 months' notice, though this only affects Enzumo's capability to provide Managed Services and eSAS to clients and continue development. This risk is mitigated in part by the fact that the LMS solutions business (refer Section 3.6) is not dependent on the XPLAN system, and also by Enzumo's product development pipeline (refer Section 3.7) which will diversify Enzumo's revenue streams and reduce reliance on the availability of the XPLAN system.

Reliance on core information technology and other systems

The availability of Enzumo's learning systems management platform is dependent upon the performance, reliability and availability of its IT and communication systems. This includes its core technologies such as computer servers and back-end processing systems. These systems may be adversely affected by a number of factors including major events such as acts of terrorism or war, a breakdown in utilities such as electricity and fibre optic cabling and even pandemics. Events of that nature may cause one or more of those core technologies to become unavailable. There are also internal and external factors that may adversely affect those systems and technologies such as natural disasters, misuse by employees or contractors or other technical issues. Enzumo's disaster recovery plans may not adequately address every potential event and its insurance policies may not cover loss or damage that Enzumo suffers as a result of a system failure.

Any damage to, or failure of, Enzumo's key systems can result in disruptions in Enzumo's ability to operate its learning systems management platform. Such disruptions have the potential to reduce Enzumo's ability to generate revenue, impact consumer service levels and damage the Enzumo brand. This could adversely affect Enzumo's ability to generate new business and cause it to suffer financial loss.

Other intellectual property risks

Enzumo's intellectual property rights are based on copyright and contractual agreements with clients, employees and contractors and registered trade marks. At the date of this Prospectus, there are no registered patents, registrable designs or other statutory registrations.

Competition risks

The emergence of new competitors in the market, or any technological developments providing an alternative to Enzumo's product offerings, could impact the market share Enzumo is able to acquire and cause downward price pressure on its solutions in the financial services industry, thus reducing Enzumo's margins and revenue. Existing providers of software platforms to the financial services industry may also respond aggressively to Enzumo's market expansion to retain or regain market share, which could also impact Enzumo's margins and revenue.

Key customer risk

NAB is a key customer of Enzumo, representing over 70% of revenue in FY2013 and over 50% of revenue in FY2014. The loss of this customer would have a material adverse impact on Enzumo's business.

Failure to deal with growth

Enzumo's business has the potential to grow rapidly. If that occurs and Enzumo fails to properly manage that growth, then that failure could harm its business. Any failure to meet customer demand properly could adversely affect the business, including demand for Enzumo's solutions, revenue collection, customer satisfaction and public perception.

Reinstatement to ASX's official list

The Company's Shares were placed into a trading halt prior to market open on the date of the General Meeting. It is anticipated that the Company's Shares will remain suspended until completion of the Offers and the Acquisition Agreement, re compliance by the Company with Chapters 1 and 2 of the ASX Listing Rules and compliance with any further conditions ASX imposes on such reinstatement. There is a risk that the Company will not be able to satisfy one or more of those requirements and that its Shares may consequently remain suspended from quotation.

b. Residual risks from continuing mineral exploration tenements

The Company will continue to be exposed to risks from its current mineral exploration tenements in Papua New Guinea. There are no exploration activities currently being undertaken. These risks include but are not limited to the following:

- i. availability of competent contractors and consultants (if required);
- ii. geological conditions;
- iii. political risk;
- iv. force majeure circumstances and other limitations to activities such as seasonal weather pattern, cyclone activity and other adverse weather conditions or delays caused by deference to landholders' activities;

5 RISK FACTORS

- v. unanticipated costs of tenement retention which may include extra reporting to regulatory authorities and compliance with environmental notices;
- vi. financial failure, or default by any future alliance or joint venture partner or service provider of the Company, or changes in joint venture programs or budgets may result in the risk of forfeiture of the relevant tenements;
- vii. there is no guarantee that the Company will be able to obtain the required approval and mining licenses if there is a discovery of a mineral deposit;
- viii. there is no assurance that exploration of the Company's tenement portfolio will result in the discovery of a mineral deposit that can be economically mined; and
- ix. there is no guarantee that current or future applications, extensions or renewal of the tenements in which the Company has an interest will be granted. Further, tenement holders are required to meet prescribed expenditure conditions. Failure to meet these expenditure conditions will render tenements liable to be forfeited unless a total or partial exemption is granted in accordance with relevant legislation. Even if the Company is entitled to seek an exemption, it may nevertheless be subject to the attempts of a third party to claim a failure to satisfy expenditure conditions which may need to be resolved through litigation.

c. General risks

Additional requirements for capital

The funds raised under the Offers are considered sufficient to meet the immediate objectives of the Company. Additional funding may be required to take advantage of opportunities for acquisitions, joint ventures or other business opportunities, and to meet any unanticipated liabilities or expenses which the Company may incur. If such events occur, additional financing will be required.

The Company may seek to raise further funds through equity or debt financing, joint ventures, licensing arrangements or other means.

Failure to obtain sufficient financing for the Company's and the Enzumo Companies' activities and future projects may result in delay and indefinite postponement of their activities and potential development programmes. There can be no assurance that additional finance will be available when needed or, if available, the terms of the financing might not be favourable to the Company or the Enzumo Companies and might involve substantial dilution to Shareholders.

Reliance on personnel

The responsibility of overseeing the day-to-day operations and the strategic management of the Company and the Enzumo Companies depends substantially on senior management and its key personnel. The loss of key personnel, or a number of general personnel, may have an adverse impact on the business.

Insurance risks

The Company intends to insure its operations and those of the Enzumo Companies in accordance with technology industry practice. However, in certain circumstances, such insurance may not be of a nature or level to provide adequate insurance cover. The occurrence of an event that is not covered or fully covered by insurance could have a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition and results of the Company and the Enzumo Companies.

Litigation risks

The Company and the Enzumo Companies are exposed to possible litigation risks including, but not limited to, intellectual property claims, regulatory intervention and third party claims in relation to its products and services, occupational health and safety claims and employee claims. Further, the Company or the Enzumo Companies may be involved in disputes with other parties in the future which may result in litigation. Any such claim or dispute if proven, may impact adversely on the Company's and the Enzumo Companies' operations, financial performance and financial position. The Company and the Enzumo Companies are not currently engaged in any litigation. Refer also to the disclosure of a landowner claim in Section 10.7.

Regulatory risks

The introduction of new legislation or amendments to existing legislation by governments, or the respective interpretation of the legal requirements in any of the legal jurisdictions which govern the Company's or the Enzumo Companies' operations or contractual obligations, could impact adversely on the assets, operations and, ultimately, the financial position and financial performance of the Enzumo Companies and the Company and its Securities. In addition there is a risk that legal action may be taken against the Company and the Enzumo Companies in relation to commercial, legal, regulatory or other matters.

Economic

General economic conditions, introduction of tax reform, new legislation (particularly in relation to the financial services industry), movements in interest and inflation rates and currency exchange rates may have an adverse effect on the Company's and the Enzumo Companies' business activities and potential development programmes, as well as on their ability to fund those activities.

Force Majeure

The Company's and the Enzumo Companies' business now or in the future may be adversely affected by risks outside the control of the Company and the Enzumo Companies, including labour unrest, civil disorder, war, subversive activities or sabotage, fires, floods, explosions or other catastrophes, epidemics or quarantine restrictions.

5 RISK FACTORS

Dependence on outside parties

The Company may pursue a strategy that forms strategic business relationships with other organisations in relation to potential products and services. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to attract such prospective organisations and to negotiate appropriate terms and conditions with these organisations or that any potential agreements with such organisations will be complied with.

Market conditions

Share market conditions may affect the value of the Company's quoted Securities regardless of the Company's operating performance.

Share market conditions are affected by many factors such as:

- i. general economic outlook;
- ii. introduction of tax reform or other new legislation;
- iii. interest rates and inflation rates;
- iv. changes in investor sentiment toward particular market sectors;
- v. the demand for, and supply of, capital; and
- vi. terrorism or other hostilities.

The market price of securities can fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general and technology stocks in particular. Neither the Company nor the Directors warrant the future performance of the Company or the Enzumo Companies or any return to Security holders arising from the transactions the subject of this Notice or otherwise.

Taxation

There may be tax implications arising from Applications for New Shares, the receipt of dividends both franked and unfranked (if any) from the Company, participation in any buy-back and on the future disposal of Shares.

5.3 INVESTMENT HORIZON

The above list of risk factors should not be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The above factors, and others not specifically referred to above, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of the Shares.

Therefore, the New Shares issued pursuant to this Prospectus carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of those New Shares.

7.4 MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF THE HISTORICAL FINANCIAL INFORMATION

a. Goldminex

Goldminex was historically involved in mineral exploration in the Papua New Guinea region. Goldminex's main focus was on gold, copper and nickel exploration, with 100% interests in a portfolio of prospective tenements consisting of exploration licences covering approximately 864km² in the Owen Stanley Region. Goldminex announced a change in strategic direction away from mineral exploration on 11 November 2014, and has subsequently wound down all such activities.

The table below presents the Consolidated Historical Statement of Profit and Loss and Comprehensive Income for FY2012, FY2013, FY2014 and HY2015.

7 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Revenue

Historically, Goldminex's operations were focussed on resource exploration; therefore revenue has historically been generated through a management fee paid by Vale. Revenue has been decreasing over the historical period, from $0.65 million in FY2012 to $37,000 in FY2014, reflecting the termination of the Vale agreement and change in strategic direction.

Expenses

Historically, overheads were largely comprised of employee and corporate costs, including publicly listed expenditure. Due to the termination of the farm-in arrangement with Vale, Goldminex have reduced the scope and size of operations, with reductions in headcount and corporate expenses, including travel, consultancy and accounting fees.

In HY2015, Goldminex have continued to incur operational expenditure at a rate relatively consistent with FY2014. Approximately $0.2 million of offer costs have been incurred in HY2015.

The table below presents the Consolidated Historical Statement of Cash Flows for FY2012, FY2013, FY2014 and HY2015.

The Pro Forma Consolidated Historical Statement of Profit and Loss and Comprehensive Income have been extracted from the unaudited and audited financial statements of the Enzumo Companies for the financial years ended FY2012, FY2013, FY2014 and HY2015.

Revenue

Revenue increased by $0.6 million between FY2012 and FY2013, primarily due to the commencement of new clients, of which a significant portion of this revenue increase related to securing NAB as a customer.

In FY2014, the mix of revenue has changed as a consequence of the addition of Centrepont Alliance as a customer, as well as a shift from advisory services undertaken for NAB, to SaaS.

Historically, the Enzumo Companies generate more revenue in the first six months of the financial year, compared to the second, therefore there has been an uplift in revenue recognised in HY2015 on an annualised basis compared to FY2014.

The mix of services provided and customers in HY2015 has remained consistent with FY2014. In HY2015, the ANZ was also acquired and the provision of services began.

Expenses

Expenses increased by $0.8 million between FY2012 and FY2013, due to $0.5 million of software development costs, which are directly correlated with the requirements of new clients and consulting work being undertaken. Salaries and wages also increased between FY2013, due to 5 additional employees. Overheads have remained relatively consistently in FY2014, compared to FY2013.

In 1HFY2015, the Enzumo Companies have continued to incur expenditure at a rate consistent with FY2014.

The Pro Forma Consolidated Historical Statement of Cash Flows has been extracted from the unaudited and audited financial statements of the Enzumo Companies for the financial years ended FY2012, FY2013, FY2014 and HY2015.

Operating and financing cash flows

Notwithstanding EBITDA has increased, the cash flow from operating activities increase in FY2014 was largely attributable to better customer collections days which reduced from 35 days at 30 June 2012 to 26 days at 30 June 2014 due to customers now being required to pay upfront. In addition, an increase in trade creditor payment days due to timing differences relating to creditor payment as well as additional year end accruals, also improved the operating cash flow.

Investing cash flows

The increase in cash used for investing activities in FY2013 is a result of the Enzumo Companies undertaking a rebranding exercise, with costs associated with the rebranding program being capitalised over these periods.

7.6 ACCOUNTING POLICIES

a. Business combinations

The acquisition method of accounting is used to account for all business combinations, excluding business combinations involving entities or businesses under common control which are transferred using the underlying carrying values of the entity being acquired, regardless of whether equity instruments or other assets are acquired. The consideration transferred for the acquisition of a subsidiary comprises the fair values of the assets transferred, the liabilities incurred and the equity interests issued by the Goldminex Group. The consideration transferred also includes the fair value of any contingent consideration arrangement and the fair value of any pre-existing equity interest in the subsidiary. Acquisition-related costs are expensed as incurred. Identifiable assets acquired and liabilities and contingent liabilities assumed in a business combination are measured initially at their fair values at the acquisition date. On an acquisition-by-acquisition basis, the Goldminex Group recognises any non-controlling interest in the acquiree either at fair value or at the non-controlling interest's proportionate share of the acquiree's net identifiable assets. Refer to the basis of preparation in Section 7.2 above.

The excess of the fair value of consideration transferred, over the fair value of the Goldminex Group's share of net identifiable assets of the subsidiary acquired is recorded as goodwill. If those amounts are less than the fair value of net identifiable assets of the subsidiary acquired and the measurement of all amounts has been reviewed, the difference is recognised directly in profit or loss as a bargain purchase.

Where settlement of any part of cash consideration is deferred, the amounts payable in the future are discounted to their present value as at the date of exchange. The discount rate used is the entity's incremental borrowing rate, being the rate at which a similar borrowing could be obtained from an independent financier under comparable terms and conditions.

Contingent consideration is classified either as equity or a financial liability. Amounts classified as a financial liability are subsequently remeasured to fair value with changes in fair value recognised in profit or loss.

Under the principles of AASB 3: Business Combinations, the transaction between Goldminex Resources Limited and Enzumo Admin Pty Ltd is being treated as a reverse acquisition. Enzumo Admin Pty Ltd is the accounting acquirer and Goldminex Resources Limited is the accounting acquiree. Accordingly, the 30 June 2015 consolidated financial statements of Goldminex Resources Limited will be prepared as a continuation of the financial statements of Enzumo Admin Pty Ltd.

The consideration in a reverse acquisition is deemed to have been incurred by the legal subsidiary, Enzumo Admin Pty Ltd in the form of equity instruments issued to the shareholders of the legal parent entity, Goldminex Resources Limited. The acquisition date fair value of the consideration transferred has been determined by reference to the fair value of the issued shares of Goldminex Resources Limited immediately prior to the business combination.

As Goldminex is a listed entity, it is considered that its fair value is more accurately reflected and that the consideration transferred is $2.5 million, resulting in a share listing expense of $2.2 million (calculated as $2.5 million consideration transferred less Goldminex's net assets ($0.3 million)). The cash component of the consideration $1.6 million has been treated as a distribution.

b. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprises cash on hand, deposits held at call with banks and other short term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash, which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value and have a maturity of three months or less at date of acquisition.

c. Financial instruments issued by the Company Issued capital

Ordinary shares are classified as equity.

Transaction costs on the issue of equity instruments

Transaction costs arising on the issue of equity instruments are recognised directly in equity as a reduction of the proceeds of the equity instruments to which the costs relate. Transaction costs are the costs that are incurred directly in connection with the issue of those equity instruments and which would not have been incurred had those instruments not been issued.

d. Goods and services tax

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST, except:

- i. where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the taxation authority, it is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of an asset or as part of an item of expense; or
- ii. for receivables and payables which are recognised inclusive of GST.

The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the taxation authority is included as part of receivables or payables. Cash flows are included in the statement of cash flows on a gross basis. The GST component of cash flows arising from investing and financing activities which is recoverable from, or payable to, the taxation authority is classified as operating cash flows.

e. Impairment of non-financial assets

At each reporting date or more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate a possible impairment, the entity reviews the carrying amounts of its tangible and intangible assets to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss (if any). Where the asset does not generate cash flows that are largely independent from other assets, the entity estimates the recoverable amount of the cash generating unit to which the asset belongs.

The recoverable amount is the higher of fair value less costs to sell and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset for which the estimates of future cash flows have not been adjusted.

If the recoverable amount of an asset (or cash generating unit) is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset (cash generating unit) is reduced to its recoverable amount. An impairment loss is recognised in profit or loss immediately, unless the relevant asset is carried at fair value, in which case the impairment loss is treated as a revaluation decrease.

Where an impairment loss subsequently reverses, the carrying amount of the asset, excluding goodwill, is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, but only to the extent that the increased carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognised for the asset (cash generating unit) in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognised in profit or loss immediately, unless the relevant asset is carried at fair value, in which case the reversal of the impairment loss is treated as a revaluation increase.

f. Income tax

Current tax

Current tax is calculated by reference to the amount of income taxes payable or recoverable in respect of the taxable profit or taxable loss for the period. It is calculated using tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the reporting date. Current tax for current and prior periods is recognised as a liability (or asset) to the extent that it is unpaid (or refundable).

Deferred tax

Deferred tax is accounted for using the liability method in respect of temporary differences arising from differences between the carrying amount of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and the corresponding tax base of those items. In principle, deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that it is probable that sufficient taxable amounts will be available against which deductible temporary differences or unused tax losses and tax offsets can be utilised. However, deferred tax assets and liabilities are not recognised if the temporary differences giving rise to them arise from the initial recognition of assets and liabilities (other than as a result of a business combination) which affects neither taxable income nor accounting profit. Furthermore, a deferred tax liability is not recognised in relation to taxable temporary differences arising from goodwill.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for taxable temporary differences arising on investments in subsidiaries, except where the Goldminex Group is able to control the reversal of the temporary differences and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred tax assets arising from deductible temporary differences associated with these investments are only recognised to the extent that it is probable that there will be sufficient taxable profits against which to utilise the benefits of the temporary differences and they are expected to reverse in the foreseeable future.

Current and deferred tax for the period

Current and deferred tax is recognised as an expense or income in the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income, except when it relates to items credited or debited directly to equity, in which case the deferred tax is also recognised directly in equity, or where it arises from the initial accounting for a business combination, in which case it is taken into account in the determination of goodwill.

g. Financial instruments

Financial assets

Financial assets can be classified into the following specified categories: financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, held to maturity investments, available for sale financial assets and loans and receivables. The classification depends on the nature and purpose of the financial assets and is determined at the time of initial recognition. The Goldminex Group holds no financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, held to maturity investments or available for sale financial assets.

Investments

Investments are recognised and derecognised on trade date where the purchase or sale of an investment is under a contract whose terms require delivery of the investment within the time frame established by the market concerned, and are initially measured at fair value, net of transaction costs except for those financial assets classified as at fair value through profit or loss which are initially measured at fair value.

Subsequent to initial recognition, investments in subsidiaries are measured at cost in the Company financial statements as the fair value cannot be reliably determined.

Loan and receivables

Trade receivables, loans, and other receivables that have fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market are classified as loans and receivables. Loans and receivables are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method less impairment.

Effective interest rate method

The effective interest rate method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of a financial asset and of allocating interest income over the relevant period. The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts through the expected life of the financial asset, or, where appropriate, a shorter period.

Income is recognised on an effective interest rate method for debt instruments other than those financial assets at 'fair value through profit and losses.

7 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Impairment of financial assets

Financial assets, other than those at 'fair value through profit or loss', are assessed for indicators of impairment at each reporting date. Financial assets are impaired where there is objective evidence that as a result of one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the financial assets the estimated future cash flows of the investment have been impacted. For financial assets carried at amortised cost, the amount of the impairment is the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows, discounted at the original effective interest rate. The carrying amount of the financial asset is reduced by the impairment loss directly for all financial assets with the exception of trade receivables where the carrying amount is reduced through the use of an allowance account.

When a trade receivable is uncollectible, it is written off against the allowance account. Subsequent recoveries of amounts previously written off are credited against the allowance account. Changes in the carrying amount of the allowance account are recognised in profit or loss.

With the exception of 'available-for-sale' equity instruments, if, in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognised, the previously recognised impairment loss is reversed through profit or loss to the extent the carrying amount of the investment at the date the impairment is reversed does not exceed what the amortised cost would have been had the impairment not been recognised.

Financial liabilities

The Goldminex Group's financial liabilities variously include only trade and other payables and bank overdraft. Payables are measured at invoiced or quoted amount. Bank overdraft is measured and recorded according to the statement amount.

h. Plant and equipment

Plant and equipment is stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. Depreciation is calculated on a straight-line basis so as to write off the net cost or other revalued amount of each asset over its expected useful life to its estimated residual value.

The estimation of useful lives of plant and equipment has been based on historical experience and judgement with respect to technical obsolescence, physical deterioration and usage capacity of the asset in addition to any legal restrictions on usage. The condition of the asset is assessed at least once per year and considered against the remaining useful life. Adjustments to useful lives are made when considered necessary. The gain or loss arising on disposal or retirement of plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in profit or loss.

The following useful lives are used in the calculation of depreciation:

- Plant, vehicles and equipment: {2-15 years}.

The asset's residual values and useful lives are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate, at each reporting date. Where the carrying amount of plant and equipment exceeds the recoverable amount, the asset is immediately written down to its recoverable amount.

i. Share based payments

Equity settled share-based payments with employees and others providing similar services are measured at the fair value of the equity instrument at the grant date. Fair value is measured by use of a Binomial model. The expected life used in the model has been adjusted, based on management's best estimate, for the effects of non transferability, exercise restrictions, and behavioural considerations.

The fair value determined at the grant date of the equity settled share-based payments is expensed on a straight-line basis over the vesting period, based on the Goldminex Group's estimate of shares that will eventually vest.

j. Foreign currency translation

The consolidated financial statements are presented in Australian dollars (AUD), which is also the functional currency of the parent company.

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency of the respective Group entity, using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions (spot exchange rate). Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions and from the remeasurement of monetary items at year end exchange rates are recognised in profit or loss.

Non-monetary items measured at historical cost are translated using the exchange rates at the date of the transaction (not retranslated). Non-monetary items measured at fair value are translated using the exchange rates at the date when fair value was determined.

In the Goldminex Group's financial statements, all assets, liabilities and transactions of Goldminex Group entities with a functional currency other than the AUD (the Goldminex Group's presentation currency) are translated into AUD upon consolidation. The functional currency of the entities in the Goldminex Group has remained unchanged during the reporting period.

On consolidation, assets and liabilities have been translated into AUD at the closing rate at the reporting date. Income and expenses have been translated into the Goldminex Group's presentation currency at the average rate over the reporting period. Exchange differences are charged/credited to other comprehensive income and recognised in the foreign currency translation reserve in equity. On disposal of a foreign operation the cumulative translation differences recognised in equity are reclassified to profit or loss and recognised as part of the gain or loss on disposal. Goodwill and fair value adjustments arising on the acquisition of a foreign entity have been treated as assets and liabilities of the foreign entity and translated into AUD at the closing rate.

k. Lease assets

Operating lease payments are recognised as an expense on a basis reflecting the pattern in which economic benefits from the leased asset are consumed.

l. Trade and other payables

Trade and other payables are measured at invoiced amount or fair value and represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Company prior to the balance date and remain unpaid at that time. Payables are recognised when the Company becomes obliged to make future payments resulting from the purchase of goods or services.

m. Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets

Provisions are recognised when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that the Company will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

The amount recognised as a provision is the best estimate of the consideration required to settle the obligation at the reporting date, taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation. Where a provision is measured using cash flows estimated to settle the obligation, its carrying amount is the present value of those cash flows.

When some or all of the economic benefits required to settle a provision are expected to be recovered from a third party, the receivable is recognised as an asset if it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received and the amount of the receivable is capable of reliable measurement.

n. Employee benefits

Wages and salaries and annual leave

Liabilities for wages and salaries, including non-monetary benefits, annual leave and other employee benefits expected to be paid within 12 months of the reporting date are measured at the amounts expected to be paid, including expected on-costs, when the liabilities are settled. These short-term obligations are recognised as provisions for employee benefits, except accrued wages and salaries, which is recognised as other payables due to the increased certainty around the timing of the attached cash outflows. Non-accumulating sick leave is recognised when the leave is taken and measured at the rates paid or payable. Post employment benefits comprise solely of legislatively mandated employee superannuation contributions and are calculated accordingly.

Other long term employee benefit obligations

The liability for long service leave is recognised in the provision for employee benefits and measured as the present value of expected future payments to be made, plus expected on-costs, in respect of services provided by employees up to the reporting date. Consideration is given to the expected future wage and salary levels, experience of employee departures and periods of service. Expected future payments are discounted using market yields at the reporting date on national government bonds with terms to maturity and currency that match, as closely as possible, the estimated future cash outflows.

o. Revenue recognition

Revenue arises from the rendering of services. It is measured by reference to the fair value of consideration received or receivable, excluding sales taxes, rebates, and trade discounts.

Revenue is recognised to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the entity and the revenue can be reliably measured. The following specific recognition criteria must also be met before revenue is recognised.

License fees

License fees are recognised over the license period. Renewal of license fees and support are recognised over the renewal terms.

Consulting fees

The Company generates revenues from after sales service and maintenance and consulting. Revenue from the rendering of services is recognised upon the delivery of the service to the customers.

Interest revenue

Interest revenue is accrued on a time basis, by reference to the principal outstanding and the effective interest rate applicable, which is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts through the expected life of the financial asset to that asset's net carrying amount.

p. Research and development

Historically, expenditure during the research and development phase of a project incurred by the Enzumo Companies has historically been recognised as an expense.

Going forward, as a public company, development costs will be capitalised in accordance with the measurement and recognition criteria prescribed by AGAAP.

7.7 FORECAST FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The Directors have considered the matters set out in ASIC Regulatory Guide 170 and believe that they do not have a reasonable basis to forecast future earnings beyond the expected re-listing date on the basis that the operations of the Company and Enzumo are inherently uncertain. Any forecast or projection information would contain such a broad range of potential outcomes and possibilities that it is not possible to prepare a reliable best estimates forecast or projection.

7.8 DIVIDEND POLICY

It is anticipated that following completion of the Acquisition, the Company will focus on the growth and development of the Enzumo business. The Company does not expect to declare any dividends in the near term.

Any future determination as to the payment of dividends by the Company will be at the discretion of the Board and will depend on the availability of distributable earnings and operating results and financial condition of the Company, future capital requirements and general business and other factors considered relevant by the Board.

No assurance in relation to the payment of dividends or franking credits attaching to dividends can be given by the Company.

Information” section which includes the Offer (the “Pro Forma Transactions”) as though they had occurred on that date.

The stated basis of preparation is the recognition and measurements principles contained in the Australian equivalents to Financial Reporting Standards (“AIFRS”) and GMX’s adopted accounting principles applied to the Historical Financial Information and which are consistent with the Enzumo Companies.

The Historical Financial Information is presented in an abbreviated form insofar as it does not include all of the presentation and disclosures required and other mandatory professional reporting requirements applicable to general purpose financial reports prepared in Australia in accordance with the Corporations Act 2001.

This report has been prepared for inclusion in the Prospectus. Grant Thornton Corporate Finance disclaim any assumption of responsibility for any reliance on this report or on the Financial Information to which this report relates for any purpose other than the purposes for which it was prepared. This report should be read in conjunction with the Prospectus.

Directors’ Responsibility

The Directors of GMX are responsible for the preparation and presentation of the Historical Financial Information. The Directors are also responsible for the determination of the Pro Forma Transactions set out in Section 7.5.2 of the “Financial Information” section and the basis of preparation of the Historical Financial Information.

This responsibility also includes compliance with applicable laws and regulations and for such internal controls as the Directors determine necessary to enable the preparation of the Historical Financial Information that are free from material misstatement.

Our Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express a limited assurance conclusion on the Historical Financial Information based on the procedures performed and evidence we have obtained. We have conducted our engagement in accordance with the Standard on Assurance Engagements ASAE 3420: “Assurance Engagements to Report on the Compilation of Pro Forma Historical Financial Information” and ASAE 3450: “Assurance Engagements involving Corporate Fundraisings and/ or Prospective Historical Financial Information”. Our procedures consisted of making enquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and review procedures applied to the accounting records in support of the Historical Financial Information.

These procedures are substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards and consequently does not enable us to obtain reasonable assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. We have not performed an audit and, accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion on the Historical Financial Information.

Our engagement did not involve updating or re issuing any previously issued audit or review reports on any Historical Financial Information used as a source of the Historical Financial Information.

Conclusion

Historical Financial Information

Based on our independent review, which is not an audit, nothing has come to our attention which causes us to believe that the Historical Financial Information of GMX and the Enzumo Companies as described in the “Financial Information” section of the Prospectus does not present fairly:

- The consolidated historical statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income for FY2012, FY2013, FY2014 and HY2015 of both GMX and the Enzumo Companies;
- The consolidated historical consolidated statement of cash flows for FY2012, FY2013, FY2014 and HY2015 of both GMX and the Enzumo Companies;
- The consolidated historical statement of financial position as at 31 December 2014 of GMX;
- The pro forma historical statement of financial position as at 31 December 2014 of GMX; and
- The Pro Forma Transactions set out in Section 7.5.2 of the “Financial Information” section are a reasonable basis for the pro forma statement of financial position as 31 December 2014;

in accordance with the measurement and recognition requirements (but not all of the presentation and disclosure requirements) of applicable Accounting Standards and other mandatory professional reporting requirements under the AIFRS as if the Pro Forma Transactions set out in Section 7.5.2 of the “Financial Information” section had occurred at 31 December 2014.

Restriction on Use

Without modifying our conclusion, we draw attention to the “Financial Information” section, which describes the purpose of the Historical Financial Information, being for inclusion in the Prospectus. As a result, the Historical Financial Information may not be suitable for use for another purpose.

Consent

Grant Thornton Corporate Finance has consented to the inclusion of this Independent Limited Assurance Report in the Prospectus in the form and context in which it is included.

9.3 SERVICES AGREEMENT BETWEEN ENZUMO GROUP P/L AS TRUSTEE FOR THE ELMS SOLUTIONS UNIT TRUST (ENZUMO) AND NATIONAL AUSTRALIA BANK LIMITED, DATED 2 OCTOBER 2012

National Australia Bank Limited (NAB) has engaged Enzumo to provide software customisation, consultancy and design services, particularly in relation to XPLAN software, as well as training services (Services) and certain deliverables (Deliverables). The Services also comprise ongoing data centre management and support services as well as provision of and support in using eLMS.

The agreement has an effective commencement date of 28 July 2012 and expires on 28 July 2015. NAB may renew the agreement for a further two years by giving at least 30 days' notice prior to the end of the term.

NAB may terminate the agreement if (amongst other circumstances) Enzumo fails to remedy a material breach within seven days, or if in NAB's reasonable opinion Enzumo is unable to adequately provide the services or engages in conduct which might injure NAB's reputation or business.

Enzumo agrees to:

- a. assign all of its present and future intellectual property rights; and
- b. procure the waiver of its employees not to enforce moral rights they may have, in the Deliverables and other materials generated in connection with the Services to NAB. However, Enzumo retains ownership of intellectual property developed independently of the Services, any intellectual property that the parties acknowledge is owned by Enzumo and is used to provide the Services, and all intellectual property rights in the eLMS system.

Neither party may assign or subcontract its obligations without the other party's prior written consent. However, NAB may assign to a related entity, which is broadly defined to include a related body corporate of NAB, a company in which NAB has an interest or with whom NAB has a strategic alliance. In addition, Enzumo may engage Micron 21 Data Centre to perform aspects of the Services in relation to the eLMS system. Under the Acquisition Agreement, the Vendors have sought NAB's consent to the assignment of this agreement and completion of the Acquisition is subject to such consent being obtained.

The agreement permits NAB to regularly audit Enzumo's performance of the Services, including by way of reasonable access to Enzumo premises, personnel and records, and copying records for use in the audit. In addition, NAB is required to run, or engage a third party to run, penetration tests of the Deliverables.

The agreement contains warranties (including with respect to the assignment of intellectual property, infringement of any third party rights, and maintenance of confidential information) and indemnities (including loss, damage, or costs and expenses arising from infringement claims) in favour of NAB that are typical for software services agreements.

General Offer Application Form

General Offer closes 5.00pm (Sydney time) on Thursday, 23 April 2015

This General Offer Application Form relates to the General Offer by Goldminex Resources Limited, that will be issued under the prospectus ("Prospectus") lodged with the Australian Securities and Investments Commission on 19 March 2015.

This General Offer Application Form is important. If you are in doubt as to how to deal with it, please contact your financial adviser or other professional adviser. You should read the entire Prospectus carefully before completing this General Offer Application Form. To meet the requirements of the Corporations Act, this General Offer Application Form must not be distributed unless included in, or accompanied by, the Prospectus. Capitalised terms have the meaning given to them in the Prospectus.

Your application may not be accepted in full and Goldminex Resources Limited reserves the right to scale back your application.

STEP 1 New Shares applied for

Enter the number of New Shares you wish to apply for. The Application must be for a minimum of 10,000 New Shares (A$2,000). Applications for greater than 10,000 New Shares must be in multiples of 1,000 New Shares (A$200). Enter the amount of the Application Monies. To calculate this amount, multiply the number of New Shares applied for by the offer price which is A$0.20.

STEP 4 Application payment

Applications and Application Monies under the General Offer must be received by the Share Registry by no later than 5.00pm (Sydney time) on Thursday, 23 April 2015. Cheque(s) or bank draft(s) must be in Australian dollars and drawn on an Australian branch of an Australian bank, must be crossed 'Not Negotiable' and must be made payable to 'Goldminex Resources Limited'.

STEP 2 Applicant name(s) and postal address

Enter the full name you wish to appear on the confirmation statement. This must be either your own name or the name of a company. Up to three joint applicants may register. You should refer to the table overleaf for the correct forms of registrable title(s). Applications using the wrong form of names may be rejected. CHES participants should complete their name identically to that presently registered in CHES. Enter your postal address for all correspondence. All communications to you from the Registry will be mailed to the person(s) and address as shown. For joint applicants, only one address can be entered. Enter your contact name and telephone number. This information may be used to communicate other matters to you subject to Goldminex Resources Limited's privacy statement. This is not compulsory but will assist us if we need to contact you.

STEP 3 CHES Holdings Only

Goldminex Resources Limited will apply to ASX for Shares to participate in CHES, operated by ASX Settlement Pty Limited, a wholly owned subsidiary of ASX. In CHES, Goldminex Resources Limited will operate an electronic CHES subregister of shareholdings and an electronic issuer sponsored subregister of shareholdings.

Together, the two subregisters will make up Goldminex Resources Limited's principal register of Shares. Goldminex Resources Limited will not be issuing certificates to applicants in respect of New Shares allotted.

If you are a CHES participant (or are sponsored by a CHES participant) and you wish to hold New Shares allotted to you under this Application on the CHES subregister, enter your CHES HIN.

Otherwise, leave the section blank and on allotment you will be sponsored by Goldminex Resources Limited and a "Securityholder Reference Number" ("SRN") will be allocated to you.

Please note that if you supply a CHES HIN but the name and address details on your Application Form do not correspond exactly with the registration details held at CHES, your application will be deemed to be made without the CHES HIN, and any New Shares issued will be held on the issuer sponsored subregister.

Lodgement instructions

There is no maximum value of New Shares that may be applied for by an Applicant under the General Offer. The allocation of New Shares under the General Offer will be at the absolute discretion of Goldminex Resources Limited. Goldminex Resources Limited reserve the right to reject any Application or to issue a lesser number of New Shares than those applied for under the General Offer. Goldminex Resources Limited may, in their absolute discretion, give preference to certain investors in accepting Applications under the General Offer. Where the number of New Shares issued is less than the number applied for under the General Offer, surplus Application Monies will be refunded (without interest) as soon as reasonably practicable after the Closing Date.
