

NSW Waratahs team up with CMC Markets

11 February 2014: The NSW Waratahs can today confirm the signing of global online trading company CMC Markets.

The announcement comes just 24 hours after the signing of back of jersey Ray White. The CMC Markets logo will appear on the lower back position of the new-look 2014 NSW Waratahs jersey and will be first worn by the NSW hosts the Western Force in their first game of the new Super Rugby season at Allianz Stadium on February 23.

Praising the combination as a winning one, Waratahs Rugby CEO Jason Allen said, "CMC Markets is a market-leading innovator within the global financial services space.

"Their brand is a perfect fit with the culture and brand values of the NSW Waratahs and I've got no doubt that having an international blue chip company of their calibre will be terrific advantage for everyone involved in rugby in NSW."

The Head of CMC Markets ANZ, Matt Lewis, and NSW Waratahs players Israel Folau, Paddy Ryan, Kane Douglas and Benn Robinson show off the CMC Markets logo on the new-look 2014 NSW Waratahs jersey.

Welcoming the partnership, Matt Lewis, Head of CMC Markets ANZ added with the build up to the 2015 Rugby World cup and the country's insatiable appetite for rugby, it's a perfect time to be part of the Waratahs winning team.

"The NSW Waratahs are one of Australia's most iconic sporting teams and an iconic brand. This is a winning combination as both teams are steeped in a successful history and consistently strive for excellence.

"This is a signature year for CMC Markets which celebrates 25 years as market leading innovators in the global financial services in 2014. Like the Waratahs, who celebrate 140 years this year, the continued support of our trading community and client base is critical to our future success."

Ends.
